

Journal of Addiction Medicine Accepting Applicants for Editorial Fellowship Program

Application Deadline: October 31, 2026

The Journal of Addiction Medicine, the official peer-reviewed journal of the American Society of Addiction Medicine, seeks three Editorial Fellows to serve two-year fellowships. Applicants should have at least two years of addiction research experience, an MD, DO, PhD, DSc, or PsyD degree (or equivalent), completed clinical specialty training, and hold faculty positions at the instructor or assistant professor level or an equivalent junior faculty level.

Candidates should have published at least 3 peer-reviewed papers, have strong knowledge of addiction science, and a record of commitment to and achievement in academic addiction. Candidates with expertise in epidemiology/pharmacoepidemiology, or qualitative analysis/mixed methods are encouraged to apply.

Journal of Addiction Medicine (JAM) is a leading peer-reviewed journal that promotes excellence in clinical research and the practice of addiction medicine. Published bi-monthly under the guidance of an esteemed Editorial Board, the Journal publishes clinically relevant research, including case reports, case series, clinical trials, and health services research.

Under the supervision of JAM Editors, the Fellows will do the following

- Participate in weekly 30-minute conference calls with the Editor-in-Chief (EIC), Managing Editor, Co-Editors, publisher, and society representatives
- Engage in the manuscript review process for 10-20 manuscripts a year, identifying and engaging peer reviewers from a range of disciplines
- Synthesize reviewer comments, prepare and communicate comments/recommendations and revision requests to authors and participate in the final manuscript decision alongside the EIC
- Commit to 3-4 hours a week to the journal

Fellows are encouraged to attend ASAM's Annual Conference and Editorial Board meetings, which are held at the conferences. Conferences are attended by 2,000+ Addiction Medicine professionals and present a terrific opportunity to learn and expand their networks.

Fellows will obtain extensive experience in manuscript review and scientific peer-reviewed publishing in addiction medicine. The two-year Editorial Fellowship offers an annual $500 stipend. Fellowships will begin January 1, 2027, and run through December 31, 2028.
